

Howard Jones, I Must Go

You let me paint
The colours of your mind
The love that remains wont fade over time
You'll be alright
So baby don't cry
I'll be the sunset in your sky
I'll be the soft winds you feel passing by
So chin up my darlin'
I'll be there on that distant horizon
That hurts me so
But I must go

You let me be the person that I am
Through my confusion you helped me stand
I'll be alright
So baby don't cry
I'll be the sunset in your sky
I'll be the soft winds you feel passing by
So chin up my darling
I'll be there on that distant horizon
That hurts me so
But I must go

So chin up my darlin'
I'll be there on that distant horizon
It hurts be so
But I must go
I must go

I will search every star 'till I find where you are
And take you home
So chin up my darlin'
I'll be there on that distant horizon
It hurts me so
But I must go

I must go