

Human League, Betrayed

When all the boys move on No star to wish upon When every race is run In the quiet of the morning