

Hypocrisy, All Turns Black

I've been searching for the peace in my mind it's nowhere to be found
??

I see no point of it in the life of me it hurts me too much can you feel what I feel? it must go deep
my own soul is my enemy

it seems like everything I do just pushes down it leaves an open scar that I know will never heal broken promises now run through my head I can't see the future and it all turns black what's the point of being here when this ? is riding me down

??
it must go deep
my own soul is my enemy

it seems like everything I do just pushes down
it leaves an open scar that I know will never heal
broken promises now run through my head
I can't see the future and it all turns black

?? live another day
?? getting stronger
I can hear voices calling my name I guess they are all in my head