Ian Dury, Don't ask me

| Here I stand W | ith a doughnut f | or a brain On m | ny life, I must se | ee you again I s | hould think that | 's mad |
|----------------|------------------|-----------------|--------------------|------------------|------------------|--------|
|                |                  |                 |                    |                  |                  |        |
|                |                  |                 |                    |                  |                  |        |
|                |                  |                 |                    |                  |                  |        |
|                |                  |                 |                    |                  |                  |        |
|                |                  |                 |                    |                  |                  |        |
|                |                  |                 |                    |                  |                  |        |
|                |                  |                 |                    |                  |                  |        |
|                |                  |                 |                    |                  |                  |        |
|                |                  |                 |                    |                  |                  |        |
|                |                  |                 |                    |                  |                  |        |
|                |                  |                 |                    |                  |                  |        |
|                |                  |                 |                    |                  |                  |        |
|                |                  |                 |                    |                  |                  |        |
|                |                  |                 |                    |                  |                  |        |
|                |                  |                 |                    |                  |                  |        |
|                |                  |                 |                    |                  |                  |        |
|                |                  |                 |                    |                  |                  |        |
|                |                  |                 |                    |                  |                  |        |
|                |                  |                 |                    |                  |                  |        |
|                |                  |                 |                    |                  |                  |        |
|                |                  |                 |                    |                  |                  |        |
|                |                  |                 |                    |                  |                  |        |
|                |                  |                 |                    |                  |                  |        |