

Icon & The Black Roses, Set Me On Fire

You break my heart
And set me on fire
Louder that love

You're coming down like an angel without wings
And torn me up with a silver edge blade
And everywhere... I turn I see your face...

And everywhere I go... I fear you
And everytime I run, I see your face... with despair...

You break my heart
And set me on fire
Louder that love

I speed the pace... still you're one foot from my back
You still my breath as I reach out for a grasp
You've got me cornored... there's nowhere to escape

And everywhere I go... I fear you
And everytime I run, I see your face... with despair...

You break my heart
And set me on fire
Louder that love

You drive me like your car to your paradise
Can't face this hell you're alone
You drive me in the highway to your heart
I wont stay here you're alone and still no matter what you say
No matter what you say, you're alone

You break my heart
And set me on fire
Louder that love
