

Imani Coppola, Brainstorm

Brainstorm

its when you bang your elbow twice in the same place and you wonder why god is punishing you by not letting you just drop dead and you blame the uptown train thats not running again and you gotta pee and your hungry and you feel like nothing in the world can save you and you throw rocks at the birds cause theyre cute and your not and you invent curse words to call yourself like shmit pucking shmuck ball and you want people to be mean just to justify your malicious mood and you wish for bad bad things to happen your permanently dissatisfied and constantly irritated

Its only raining in your brain dont you know that its OK to feel a little blue sometimes (repeat)

So feel a little blue

And all you think you need is a week of desperation starvation and loneliness to wake you and make you appreciate what you already have when all you want to do is blow it up

Oh and you think perspective is something only the birds have and your jealous of the bad weather cause eventually itll clear up but not the fog in your brain repeat chorus
