

Inti-Ilmiani, We're Not Alone

I shall not tire of the road we're walking
Your smile a candle, i shall not tire
I shall not weaken in the face of danger
But draw you close to me
We're not alone, we're not alone

Earth like a friend who's wounded
Child, you're the fragile promise of tomorrow
You, who become a condor in a moment
Can you spread your wings of courage and fly on

Trees are a story telling
Stars, like the burning sun that warms the water
Wind is a force that cleans our sails of sorrow
Woman guide the ship of freedom and sail on

Creatures of courage make a chain that cant be broken
Like my heart can be broken
Links must withstand the strain and pull
That tries to tear our souls apart

Hands are a map i follow
Songs are the haunting call that draws me forward
Hearts be the drum that keeps my feet from slowing
Like a cadence that is crying come on

Force that has turned the flower of the people
Into steel that strikes a fire
Can we use the heat to sodder such a chain
And believe on, believe on

I shall not tire of the road we're walking
Your smile a candle, i shall not tire
I shall not weaken in the face of danger
But draw you close to me
We're not alone, we're not alone
