

Ironflame, Divided We Fall

Black shadows sail on the horizon
A sign of the coming of war
We must prepare for their arrival
To crush them in battle once more
No one will take this ancient isle
Its shores we defend with our lives
We will protect it from the vile
And their shall be none left alive

United we stand, divided we fall
The time is at hand to conquer them all

As archers raise their gazes skyward
The arrows descend from above
Bringing a storm of blazing fire
No measure of death is enough
This code of honor reigns unbridled
Our freedom will never be shorn
Our hearts ablaze with deep desire
And so shall remain ever more

United we stand, divided we fall
The time is at hand to conquer them all
United we stand, divided we fall
The time is at hand to conquer them all