

Jack Greene, Just Enough To Start Me Dreamin'

You started a flame I can't drown then told me you see me around
All I have to do is get a glimpse of you and then
That's just enough to start me dreamin' again
You promised a love I could hold then you turned away so distant and cold
All I have to do is hear about you from a friend
And that's just enough to start me dreamin' again
And as long as I dream you'll be on my mind
And lately I've been dreaming all the time
All I do is think about you and the dream that didn't end
And that's just enough to start me dreamin' again
And that's just enough to start me dreamin' again
