

Jack Greene, Room For One More Heartache

They say I'm a fool to forgive you that true is a word you don't know
But all this fool knows is he's lonesome and prays every night you'll come home
Cause I still got room for one more heartache I could still sway up a tear or two
Yes I still got room for one more heartache so come home anytime you're ready to [ac.guitar]
I know I should find myself another who won't do the things that you do
But my eyes just look right to others cause they're waiting and watching for you
Yes I still got room...
