

Jack Greene, We Know An Ending

I never thought that you'd be leaving me and even now it's so hard to believe
But even the blind at times can see the sun at least we know an ending when it comes
I guess I've missed a lot of things you said and I guess I should have listened instead
But with all our heart we know the song's been sung
At least we know an ending when it comes

[guitar - steel]

How long ago did you start leaving me and how long have I lived with your memory
We may have missed it when it first begun
But at least we know an ending when it comes
