

Jack Russell, When I Look Into Your Eyes

baby there's a feeling i can't explain it's funny how it comes and funny how it grows in time and if i told you woman how i really feel i'd get down on my knees 'cause i know this love is real and if you ever doubt me i've laid my heart on the line and when our love was new the reasons i love you i feel them all again when i look into your eyes baby there's a feeling i can't restrain it's funny how it shows so this is what it means to love and when those clouds would come in i'd sit there on the floor until i'd see my darling walking through the door and when my days were darkest you stayed right here by my side and when our love was new the reasons i love you i see them all again
when i look into your eyes and darling what would i be in the world now without your love yeah your love a day without night a wrong without right without your love baby your love lady there's a feeling i just can't contain it's funny how it shows so this is what it means to love
and if i told you woman how i really feel i'd get down on my knees 'cause i know this love is real i know this love is real and i've laid my heart on the line like when our love was new the reasons i love you come rushing back again
when i look into your eyes
when i look into your eyes
when i look into your eyes
when i look into your eyes
