

Jackie Lomax, Born For Something

Everybody's talkin'
Nothin' being said
A hundred words a minute
Keep going straight through my head
But something must be happening
Something I know nothing about
My scene must be somewhere
Can anyone help me out?

Cause I believe, I believe
I was born for something
Something better than this
I believe, I believe
I was born for something
I ain't found it yet

Everybody's dancing
Trying not to take a step
No-one dare be thinking
Can anyone hazard a guess?
But something must be happening
Something I know nothing about
My scene must be somewhere
Can anyone help me out?

Cause I believe, I believe
I was born for something
Something better than this
I believe, I believe
I was born for something
I ain't found it yet

Everybody's singing
Trying not to hit the note
Who could hold elections
If there's nobody there to vote
But something must be happening
Something I know nothing about
My scene must be somewhere
Can anyone help me out?

Cause I believe, I believe
I was born for something
Something better than this
I believe, I believe
I was born for something
I ain't found it yet