

Jackie Lomax, Rhythm In Your Blues

Put some rhythm in your blues
Gotta make a better man out of you
Put some rhythm in your blues
Wear a hole in the sole of your shoes
We all must learn to live with sadness
That's just the other side of happiness
And so I guess
Put some rhythm in your blues
Get some pleasure from your dues
Put some rhythm in your blues
Wear a hole in the sole of your shoes
We seem to spend our time with little things
The little things, the little things
Sometimes it's hard to deal with everything
And so I sing
No man should live for bread alone
You can't spend all your time
Wheeling and dealing on the telephone
Put some rhythm in your blues
Get some pleasure from those dues
Put some rhythm in your blues
Wear a hole in the sole of your shoes
Put some rhythm in your blues
