Jackson Browne, Knock On Any Door

Knock on any door Look through any window Baby knock on any door Knock on any door Is there any place you want to go Baby who you lookin' for

Yeah, yeah, baby now you know It's a cold world like they told you so

Knock on any door Save your tears for some occasion Keep your heartache to yourself Knock on any door It's a simple operation Just trade your memory for your health

Knock on any door Look through any window Walk on Knock on any door Look through any window Walk on

It's insane girl, you can't run away It's the same world it was yesterday

Knock on any door Look through any window Walk on Knock on any door Look through any window Walk on

Now, now, now how do you survive With a pain so real, in a world so jive

Knock on any door Look through any window Peek through any shade Knock on any door Look through any window Walk on