James, Avalanche

Blue pastures fade away Green rivers in silver light I'm walking to the sound of distant bells So peaceful I don't know who I am And just when I think its clear It turns all grey again And I wonder who will find me in the snow And just when I thought I was free I got pulled in again Once you're in, you're in Blue pastures calling home I'm Walking but I can't stand anymore Hear voices, can't tell near or far Weird voices lay me down And I don't see why I'm obliged To just carry on When everything I touch Turns out wrong And I feel I've committed some crime But I don't know what I've done One day life just wins One day life just wins Still breathing But I'm tired and I want to go home Still breathing But I'm not sure anymore Still breathing But it doesn't really matter if I fade away Fall into sleep Fall into sleep