

James Bay, Break My Heart Right deer lights and runways we put on a brave face we write down the details to make us feel safe cold on the mattress sad and alone

I think it's 10000 minutes 'til I get home someday we're gonna get to do all the things that we wanted to never wanna say goodbye you always see through my disguise you're the one who breaks my heart right you tear me up and wreck my dreams

I hold your hand when I'm asleep
I don't mind falling for a lifetime cause you break my heart right be tender and honest and sometimes say words that hurt I hold all your troubles even if you won't and someday we're gonna get to do all things that we wanted to

never wanna say goodbye
you tear me up and wreck my dreams
I hold your hand when I'm asleep

don't say you're sorry stay in my head don't be perfect show me real love not pretend

never wanna say goodbye
you tear me up and wreck my dreams
I hold your hand when I'm asleep
