

James Brown, The bells

There are four black horses With eyes of flaming red Their rovers are tied with ribbing All around m