James Taylor, Gaja

The sky was light and the land all dark The sun rose up over Central Park I was walking home from