

Jan Howard, This Sad Old House

This sad old house has missed you so although you left us long ago
But if you just walk through that door this sad old old house would smile once more
You ain't contented we were two we've fell apart when we lost you
Whatever made you hurt a soul this sad old house would like to know
Each night I always hurry home in tears it tells me you're still gone
Sweetheart if you walk through that door this sad old house would smile once more [guitar]
Each night I always hurry home...
