Jana Hunter, Black Haven

She reigns. Swells in your belly. Suit of champagne, Foie gras and jelly. Far out in the sky, a Black Diamond Haven. A skull is a bone in the head of the raven. Blood on the grail Draws flies to the basement. True love is writ with a stick in the pavement. Gross alligator --Hit him with sticks, Break all his bones so that he can't get fixed. Tell me to never, ever, wake-up. Put burning hot, burning hot coals in my tent. Kids run loose, Buck-wild and unkempt. This is a dream that I always have dreamt. And I always have dreamt, and I always have dreamt
