

Jason Mraz, God moves through you

You were born together and together ye shall be forever until death should scatter it wouldn't matter