

Jason Mraz, Sleep All Day

His after moan though cries oh no He's building up a shine but he take it slow And he knows it's time to make a change here And time to get away
And he knows it's time for all the wrong reasons, oh, time to end the pain
But he sleep all, sleep all day, sleep all, we sleep all day over again Why don't we?

She said what would your mother think and how would your father react oh lord
Would he take it all back what they've done
No way he said take it, take it and don't break it with your own two hands
That was my old man and he said if all is grounded you should go make a mountain out of it oh what a lovely day to have a slice of humble pie recalling of the while we used to drive and drive here and there going nowhere but for us, nowhere but for the two of us and we knew it was time to take a chance here and time to compromise our lives just a little while and it was time for all the wrong reasons but time is often on my side and I give it to you tonight and we sleep all, sleep all day, sleep all, we sleep all day over again as time goes by we get a little bit tired waking and baked another Marlboro mile wide it's sending the boys on the run in the time in hot summer sun to swim beneath or over outside as they're reading between the lines then they remember the part in the hallmark card where they read about the dreams and reaching for the stars to hold on a little bit closer to and they knew it was time, time to take a chance here time to compromise our little lives just a little while and they knew it was time for all the wrong and, lonely, lonesome reasons, oh as time is often on my side and I give it to you, oh boy and we sleep all, sleep all day, sleep all, we sleep all day over again

She said what would your mother think and how would your father react oh lord
Would he take it all back what they've done
No way he said take it, take it and don't break it with your own two hands
That was my old man and he said
if all is grounded you should go make a mountain out of it
