

Jean Leloup, Think About You

Sometimes you love me sometimes you don't sometimes i love you sometimes no
and sometimes i don't know love is anything love is when i take you to the mountain cold chicken
i think about you all day all night
i think about you you say that all the world is against you and love is when i don't believe you because love is anything love is when i can't sleep because you're sick sick and sad
cold chicken
it takes a long time to leave you baby it takes a long time to love society is a sad thing you have to work to make a living you have to eat and you have to sleep and i have to forget you
cold chicken
i think about you
