

Jeff Finlin, Bringin' My Love

Well i walked and i crawled and i bled and i lied
Put my hopes on a train in the middle of the night
Gave myself and my dreams to the midnight moon
And now i'm bringing my love back home to you

I thought i had it coming, i knew it was mine
But with the world on my string i couldn't hold that line
Sealed my fate with a letter of intent to prove
And now i'm bringing my love back home to you

Holy mama
Have mercy on a guilty man
Call my heart back
And leave my footprints in the sand

Well i pushed and i pulled and i splintered and died
Carried that cross in the dead daylight
Heard your echo in the fog and i knew i was through
Now i'm bringing my love back home to you

Well all i got now is this moment in time
And a story in my heart of the perfect crime
All i got to give is giving it's true
So i'm bringing my love back home to you
