

Jennifer Brown, Trouble In Mind

sipping on my latte see you across the way damn i didn't know how much i missed you a part of me hesitates but i know it's too late god there's just no way i can resist you ain't it kinda funny that everytime im over you

then you come around
you get under me
try to pull me back again

even though in my head i know it's wrong
just a look and my body says it's on
still feels so good inside
i've got trouble in mind even though it may not last that long and i know it'll be the same old song

lying here in my bed im watching you get dressed all you say is see you when i see you so here we go again but i can't help but my smile cause you're the something i like getting into

you won't catch me when im falling and i know you won't be calling but baby that's just fine no breakfast in the morning no flowers on my doorsteps
