Jennifer Paige, Somewhere, Someday

When clouds roll above you start to pour And all of your doubts rage like a storm And you don't know who you are anymore Let me help you find what you been searching for

Somewhere there's a field and a river You can let your soul run free Someday le me be the giver Let me bring you peace Somewhere there's a break in the weather Where your heart and spirit go free Someday it'll be for the better Let me bring you peace

I know you think no one sees
The weight on your shoulders
But you can't fool me
And aren't you tired of standing so tall
Let me be the one to catch you when you fall

Chorus

Let me bring you joy, let me bring you peace Take the tears that you cry, trust them to me Let me give you heart, and hope Be the one constant love that you've never known