Jerk, Disintegration

Disintegrating In line and waiting for somewhere to go And the dosage today was much too low I just got there and took my place And wondered when I lost my face. I think you're safe, I think I'm safe today Disintegrating my bones are showing and my mind is broken, It's chokin' it's somewhere else Forever needed and no relieving when my body's taking, it's taking me too far Remembered that the world is blind to simple things The veins are closed the well is dry I think you're save I think you're safe from me. Disintegrating my bones are showing and my mind is broke It's chokin' it's somewhere else Forever needing and no relieving When my body's taking me too far..