

Jerk, Disintergrating

In line and waiting for somewhere to go
And the dosage today was much too low
I just got there and took my place
And wondered when I lost my face.
I think you're safe, I think I'm safe today

Disintegrating my bones are showing and my mind is broken,
It's chokin' it's somewhere else
Forever needed and no relieving when my body's taking, it's taking me too far
Remembered that the world is blind to simple things (not simple minds)
The veins are closed the well is dry I think you're save
I think you're safe from me.

Disintegrating my bones are showing and my mind is broke
It's chokin' it's somewhere else
Forever needing and no relieving
When my body's taking me too far..

(From 2003 Album: When Pure is defiled)