

Jess Mills, For My Sins

Words fail me.
Night falls, i?m a heart beat from breaking.
I see his face in all of its details, and
Every time I close my eyes its waiting.
Oh, I know, i?ve lived faithlessly
I?m just preying right now that a God can hear me
Pleading for something
Peace from the pain in my heart that is haunting me since i let him go?

For My Sins i?m here without you
Don?t you know my heart is breaking too-
Give me something to believe in,
When two hearts are breaking they never break even.
For My Sins i?m here without you
Don?t you know my heart is breaking too-
Give me something to believe in-
When two hearts are breaking they never break even

Imagining how life will be
Without you waking up right next to me
As you left the city felt so silent
Hearing the door click closed behind you felt so violent.
I know love is not a promise
You?re tired of fighting so won?t fight for this
So, I lie alone in this night and its empty
Only the darkness is holding me?
Oh time take the pain away from me
Make me face it don?t let me run
Oh bravery come a speak to me
Let me believe in what i?ve become?

For My Sins i?m here without you
Heaven sent and I let hell break through
Cos I had someone to believe in-
Two hearts breaking they never break even
For My Sins i?m here without you
Heaven sent and I let hell break through
Cos I had someone to believe in-
Two hearts breaking they never break even