

Jesse McCartney, I Don't Wanna Be Alone

The common thread
That lies between you and me
Would break if you breathed on it
That's why I'm treading so carefully

The view from your eyes
Is too different than mine
I should know finding
The truth in a lie
Is nothing but a waste of time

I do, but I don't
I should, but I won't
'Cause I don't want to be alone
Knock down my door before we run out of time
Break into my heart and rob me blind
Just leave the pieces scattered on the floor
Don't worry...
My heart's been broken before.
