

Jessica Riddle, Deserve Me

I'm not trying to hurt you,
I'm just trying to fit in this skin.
What I'm dying to tell you,
You're just probably not ready to hear.
Can my mouth even make the words come out clear?

And it's so hard not to hate you.
Do you know you told me you didn't love me.
Oh, do I just let it be,
let the love take over me.

do you think you deserve me
do you think you deserve me
how could you desert me
do you think you deserve me

I'm not looking for reasons,
I'm just trying to sleep through the night.
And what's slowly been killing me,
is that I'm just not for you to give it away.
And I can't fight the tears or find the words to say...

That it's so hard not to hate you.
Do you know you told me you didn't love me.
Oh, do I just let it be,
let the love take over me.

do you think you deserve me
do you think you deserve me
how could you desert me
do you think you deserve me

Do you remember,
when you sat me on your knee.
You said I don't want nobody
who don't want me...

And it's so hard not to hate you.
Do you know you told me you didn't love me.
Oh, do I just let it be,
let the love take over me.

do you think you deserve me
do you think you deserve me
how could you desert me
do you think you deserve me