

Jessie Ware, Begin Again

I work all night, I do my thing
Just killin' time, need a friend
Is this my life? Beginning or end?
Can I start again? Can we start again?

There's a new moon on the rise
Turn the tide, turn the tide
I've been walking a thin line
Between the Earth and the sky

Why do my realities take over all my dreams?
Why does all the purest love get filtered through machines?
Gimme something good that's even better than it seems
Why does all the purest love get filtered through machines?

I work all night (I work all night), I do my thing (I do my thing)
Just killin' time (Just killin' time), need a friend (A friend)
Is this my life? Beginning or end? (Beginning or end?)
Can I start again? (Can we begin again?) Can we start again? (Can we begin again?)

There's a new sun in the sky
Where are you? Where am I?
Have you been looking like I've been looking for a reason or a sign?
Oh, why? Oh, why?

Why do my realities take over all my dreams?
Why does all the purest love get filtered through machines?
Gimme something good that's even better than it seems
Why does all the purest love get filtered through machines?

I work all night (I work all night), I do my thing (I do my thing)
Just killin' time (Just killin' time), need a friend (A friend)
Is this my life? Beginning or end? (Beginning or end?)
Can I start again? (Can we begin again?) Can we start again? (Can we begin again?)

Can we begin again and be who we were at the start, at the start again? (Can we begin?)
Can we begin again and be who we were at the start, at the start again? (Ooh, the start)
Can we begin again and be who we were at the start, at the start again?
Can we begin again and be who we were at the start, at the start again?
Can we begin again and be who we were at the start, at the start again? (Who we were, who we were)
Can we begin again and be who we were at the start, at the start again? (We're just killing time)
Can we begin again and be who we were at the start, at the start again? (Can we begin again?)
Can we begin again and be who we were at the start, at the start again? (Again, again)
Can we begin again and be who we were at the start, at the start again? (I work all night)
Can we begin again and be who we were at the start, at the start again? (Do my thing)
Can we begin again and be who we were at the start, at the start again? (Killing the time)
Can we begin again and be who we were at the start, at the start again? (All night, all night, all night)
Can we begin again and be who we were at the start, at the start again? (I work too hard, oh)
Can we begin again and be who we were at the start, at the start again? (Beginning or end? Oh)
Can we begin again and be who we were at the start, at the start again? (Can we begin again?)
Can we begin again and be who we were at the start, at the start again? (Can we begin again?)

Why do my realities take over all my dreams?
Why does all the purest love get filtered through machines?
Gimme something good that's even better than it seems
Why does all the purest love get filtered through machines?

Can we begin again?
Can we begin again?
Can we begin again?
Can we begin again?