

Jessy, How Long

How long how long
'Till we crash and burn
how long how long
to the point of no return

The windmills in my eyes can't you see that they've stopped turning it's such a lonely sight the wind no longer tries to simmer down the yearning burning inside the search for true love brought us here but the road ahead remains unclear

How long how long
'Till we crash and burn
how long how long
to the point of no return