

Jethro Tull, Roots to branches

Words get written. Words get twisted. Old meanings move in the drift of time. Lift the flickering torch