

Jethro Tull, Sailor

When the holy film director decides to take a look,
Refers to the pages of his holy book,
Sends the warm rain falling from the sky,
If you've never been a sailor better try
If you've never been a sailor better try
If you've never been a sailor better try

If you've never been a sailor better try
If you've never been a sailor better try
If you've never been a sailor better try
If you've never been a sailor better try
If you've never been a sailor better try
If you've never been a sailor you'd better try.....