Jethro Tull, Sailor

When the holy film director decides to take a look, Refers to the pages of his holy book, Sends the warm rain falling from the sky, If you've never been a sailor better try If you've never been a sailor better try If you've never been a sailor better try

If you've never been a sailor better try If you've never been a sailor better try If you've never been a sailor better try If you've never been a sailor better try If you've never been a sailor better try If you've never been a sailor better try If you've never been a sailor you'd better try.....