Jewel, The Man Who's Already Gone

There's a man gonna have you if he can But he don't want to (wait, he's gone home)? Passion in his hands, the desires of a man Strung by the laces of his shoes

And tuesday's another town And wednesday's hanging round But thursday don't want to see him anymore

Cause he can hold you He can love you But he won't be thinkin of you He's the man who's already gone

There's a man gonna love you if he can But he don't know which way he's gonna roam/run

Daddy said go ahead, he said well you never can tell Which way the wind is gonna blow Because hearts may come and hearts may go But you can't follow scent? if it's cold

Cause he can hold you he can haunt you But he won't be thinking of you Cause he's the man who's already gone

Don't roam It's a long road It's a long road with no place to go

There's a man gonna have you if he can But he don't know which way he's gonna roam.
