

Jewel, What Matters Is The Heart

Did you forget about the passion
Of living day to day
We keep our dreams locked down inside
And choking on a lifetime
And never take a chance
Wake up one day wishing you tried

And it ain't about the money
It ain't about the time
It ain't about the love you lost
Or the things you think you left behind
And it ain't about your losing streak
Makes you feel like you're falling apart
What matters is the heart

Lets forget about the notion
That we're not the same
My blood runs as red as yours
We all get angry
We've all been scared
We've all made big mistakes
That can never be repaired

And it ain't about the money
It ain't about the time
It ain't about the love you lost
Or the things you think you left behind
It ain't about your losing streak
Makes you feel like you're falling apart

What matters is the heart

Look me in the eye
Take my hand
We can make a difference
We can make a difference
I know we can
If we forgot about the passion
Living day to day
We kept our dreams locked down inside
And choking on a life time
And never take a chance
Wake up one day wishing you tried

It ain't about the money
It ain't about the time
It ain't about the love you lost
Or the things you think you left behind
It ain't about your losing streak
Makes you feel like you're falling apart
What matters is the heart

And it ain't about the money
It ain't about the time
It ain't about the love you lost
Or the things you think you left behind
It ain't about your losing streak
Makes you feel like you're falling apart
What matters is the heart
