

Jimmy Nail, I Wonder (Will I Ever Love Again?)

since you've been gone I've lived my life in dreams of used to be and I wonder if I'll ever love again? I don't know I'm gonna lock my heart today and throw away the key and I wonder if I'll ever love again?
I wonder if I will ever love this way again walking a straight line through the sunshine and the rain makin' a vow and seein' it through doing the things that lovers do
I wonder if I will ever love this way again I take your picture from my wall and gently lay it down oh, and I wonder if I'll ever ease this pain, I don't know now as the rain begins to fall and there's darkness all around that's when I wonder if I'll ever love again
I wonder if I will ever love this way again I can survive by staying alive every now and then but that's not the way that I want it to be I want it back the way it was with you and me
I wonder if I will ever love this way again instrumental solo
I wonder if I will ever love this way again I'm willing to try but I don't know that I can stand the hurt and the pain but just as I am sure that there's a heaven above I know there can be no life if there is no love
I wonder if I will ever love this way again
