Joan Jett And The Blackhearts, Misunderstood

I'm not courageous I'm everything that they say Fame is outrageous I'm really wasting away I'm your man I'm your genie I'm your junkie I'm your man I'm your maybe I'm your must be Life's a little to intense I'm a little too in pieces If I could I would act like I should act Little misunderstood Rumors are dangerous Don't believe what they say I'm not contagious In time it will fade I'm your man I'm your monkey I'm your magic I'm your man I'm your memory I'm your static Life's a little too intense I am less than perfect The world is too immense I'm a little too in pieces If I could I would act like I should act Little misunderstood Little misunderstood These four walls Scream like sirens Damn this neighborhood I'm so good Life's a little too intense I'm a little too in pieces If I could I would act like I should act Little misunderstood Little misunderstood