

Joe Brooks, Holes Inside

When all that you've tried, leaves nothing but holes inside
It seems like you're wired to stay here held in time
Cause' nothing seems to change, oh no
No nothing's gonna change, at all
I can see it in your face, the hope has gone away

If you hold tight, shadows will be lost in the light
Oh cause' sometimes, fate and your dreams will collide
So don't walk away from me
Don't walk away from me
Don't walk away from me

Your feet are stuck, no they cannot move
Don't tell me that they're glued Sure they're far from
At home, at ease but give sometime to breathe

When nothing seems to change, oh no
No nothing's gonna change, at all
I can see it in your face, the hope has gone away

But if we hold tight, shadows will be lost in the light
Oh cause' sometimes, fate and your dreams will collide
So don't walk away from me
Don't walk away from me
Don't walk away from me

cause everything will be ok,
I know that it's so easy to say
But the pain inside will fade
Please tell me that you'll stay

If we hold tight, shadows will be lost in the light cause' sometimes, fate and your dreams can collide
When all that you've tried leaves nothing but holes inside