

Joe Ely, I Will Lose My Life

If I have to lose you, to lose you
I'll forever wonder why
For then I would refuse you, refuse you
And that would be a lie

But if I choose to love you, love you
I will lose my life
And all the stars above you, above you
Will forever lose their shine

I know it's wrong,
I been hurtin' much too long
Friends say I've changed
They see that I'm insane

If I have to lose you, to lose you
I'll forever wonder why
For then I would refuse you, refuse you
And that would be a lie

But if I choose to love you, love you
I will lose my life
And all the stars above you, above you
Will forever lose their shine

Where can I turn?
I broke faith, I never learned
If you stay behind
I will lose my mind