

Joe Jackson, Me And You (Against The World)

If I could be two places at one time
I'd be with you
I've lost my heart I'm losing half my mind but i don't care
Don't tell me don't ask me don't talk at all
Don't help me I don't know if I can stand
The bitter-sweetness of it all
I don't know I don't care don't even hear what they all say
There's no past there's no future and no fear what can they do
I'm helpless I can't talk or even stand
My heart won't start until I get from you
The look that says you love me too
Me and you against the world
I've read the Bible and those books at school but they don't make much sense of this
The finest minds are calling me a fool
But you destroy them with your kiss
Just one kiss