Joel Compass, Run

How am I supposed to love When all you ever do is run, yeah? And how are you supposed to love When you're' have a chance to run

I'm gonna let you run, let you run away Let you run away as far as I can take So I will let you win, for you could run away You can run away as far as I can take

How am I supposed to love When all you ever do is run, yeah? Cause one minute you're there and the next you're gone Oh, oh, I'm forgiving you for so much, oh, oh And you're treating me like I did you wrong Cause it's about to.. the place for you And it will always be there, in my heart!

I'm gonna let you run, let you run away Let you run away as far as I can take So I will let you win, for you could run away You can run away as far as I can take