

Joey Ryan, Loving You

I wasn't looking when I fell into you.
A welcomed surprise in your eyes: love that's true.
You're stealing the words right out from under me.
Arrows from your mind are making my heart bleed
from loving you.
I'll do my best to lighten your load,
make you feel better than you've ever known,
sing you a love song that nobody knows,
you think you've tried love, I'll give you more.
I had it all wrong,
I thought that I was strong enough.
I thought that I knew just what I'd do with love.
Then you shattered it all you made me fall in love again.
Since you've been around I can't come down
from loving you
The look in your eyes drives me crazy my love
I can hardly control myself.
The scent of your skin and the love that I'm in have me running in circles all over again.
I'll do my best to lighten your load,
make you feel better than you've ever known,
sing you a love song that nobody knows,
you think you've tried love, I'll give you more.