John & Audrey Wiggins, Their Hearts Were Danc

(Tony Haselden)

One two three step two three Whenever they're waltzing He counts out loud She's tried to teach him But the rhythm doesn't reach him So they bounce through the crowd

But oh won't you look at them smiling Not worried that they're out of time He steps on her toes as she giggles and goes on 'Cause love is forgiving and kind

Their hearts are dancing To the love song that's played from the moment they met Their hearts are dancing In time with a tune love won't ever forget

Their gold anniversary He toasted the family And said, time flies when it's fun And here's to my sweet wife Who's made ours a great life I'm the luckiest one And though there was no music playing He reached out and she took his hand He counted to three as they waltzed he could see There's still magic in those golden hands

Their hearts are dancing To the love song that's played from the moment they met Their hearts are dancing In time with a tune love won't ever forget

Their hearts are dancing To the love song that's played from the moment they met Their hearts are dancing In time with a tune love won't ever forget