

John Frusciante, I'm Always

Only time can show you
Through an invisible door
In the bottom of the ocean
I threw a bird at the sky,
Someone told me that
You'd better close your eyes,
And I said:
Don't you wonder sometimes
Why I paddle thru the clouds
In my oversized canoe,
But I'm always on your side?

Can you feel it?
My love flowing out my sides
You've been asked to fly
I'll thrust you to some light
It's you see my fish needs to thrive
As long as I'm alive.

Aside from the leaves that fall
You know it's been justified.
You gotta take it in your stride
Besides the nightmares
That lie before you,
You've always found a reason
To stay happy to be alive

If you look closely
You'll always find signals
That make your mind grind
But those are just a mind for good time fly

You'll always have control of your life
Go with the feeling that's right
You know, man, the media may try yeah
But my beautiful spirit is glued to my eye
