John Frusciante, The Battle Of Time

Seems to be away is peachy now Feel like may be far at all I've got these clothes to deceive me I've been lost all along You've got a mouth that's bigger I've got a man on the side You'll see my lie

You've got a town to speak to You've got rented dye I drive it around somewhere Before I was alive I was alive You've got a mountain beneath you You're always known in archives

I'll always have the side All the times of hate All around, this is here

You've got a running see-saw (it's me inside) That's what I heard (it's the battle of time) I have always felt fine (I know, hey) I've nothing no-one nowhere hey...
