

John Hiatt, You Caught Me Laughin'

We went to church last Sunday
I held your little hand
And we listened to the gospel
Of an old time preachin' man

In the middle of the sermon
He cracked a little smile
And said "Jesus will take care of you"
&"I'll see you after while";

CHORUS:

Well you caught me laughin'
Though it was not a joke
Well you caught me laughin'
Underneath the holy smoke

I showed up at your wedding
I was crazy like a loon
Before I realized what was happening
I was your bridegroom

In the middle of the wedding vows
You looked at me and smiled
And said "Jesus will take care of you"
&"I'll see you after while";

And now I'm gettin' older
Got cancer in my lung
Well somebody smoked my cigarette
And I think you're the one

And laying on my death bed
You look at me and smile
And said "Jesus will take care of you"
&"I'll see you after while";
